POLICE TO TRAIN SENIORS

Members of the media are invited to attend the Senior Volunteer Patrol academy being held October 15 -26 at Carlsbad Police Department. The Senior Volunteer Patrol program is for citizens age 55 and older who want to help reduce crime and increase law enforcement services to the community.

This is the eighth such academy given by Carlsbad Police Department. Academy participants receive training in areas such as traffic control, safety, first aid and CPR, ethics, radio communications, traffic citations, gangs and drugs, and crime prevention, as well as hands-on driving safety.

The 17 citizens selected for the upcoming academy have diverse backgrounds including a retired Lt. Colonel, a retired judge, and several retired engineers.

"I am excited about our eighth senior patrol academy and about the important contributions citizens can make by joining our department as volunteers," said Police Chief Tom Zoll.
